

BACKGROUND ATSC PSIP RETRIEVAL PROCESS

Abstract

In a terrestrial broadcast system, a program manager filters program data via a first tuner while a second tuner receives one of audio or video information of a channel from a transport stream. The program data is then parsed for channel information. The channel information is stored in a database.